

Learning Garden:
Following traditional native growing practices the Learning Garden is home to The Three Sisters, corn, beans and squash, plus other mixed veggies and flowers. The LG is a special place where kids of all ages plant, harvest, snack and explore the in's and out's of healthy food.

Forest Playground:
A short walk up the hill takes you into an imaginative nature play-scape. Summer camps, school groups and gatherings bring all ages together for community fire and play.

Gallery:
Step inside to visit Josh Axelrod Photography – Josh is a professional fine art photographer who specializes in contemplative black & white and color landscape imagery. Film photographs and handcrafted frames can be found in collections around the world. "I seek the poetry of our landscape, the imagery I hope to convey."

Pasture-based Animals:
Scottish Highlander beef cows, Tamworth Pigs, an array of layer chickens and Romney cross sheep fertilize and mow the farm fields. Meat is available for sale on an order basis.

Arch Yard:
Walk through the enchanted stone arch, built with farm field stone, to indulge in farm fresh food. Using ingredients from the farm you can find brick oven pizza, tacos and more.

Drift Farmstead
Roxbury, Vermont

N →
Scale: 1" = 30'-0"